Wish You Never Met Me

This is the moment that I feared the most Helplessly watching as we turn to ghosts Is it over Tell me if it's over This is the hardest thing I've ever done Hopelessly waiting as you turn and run Is it over Is it really over

I promised you that I would change Then I broke it in a million ways I alone take the blame While you take everything Why can't we start this over What have we done to us You say that you need closure Are you just giving up on us

I refuse to fade away As you try to forget me Take my heart and walk away Like you wish you never met me

Now that I know that you're not on my side What good is love if it's always denied Is it over Is it really over

I swore to God that I could change But I let you down a million ways I alone take the blame While you take everything Why can't we start this over What have we done to us You say that you need closure Are you just giving up on us

I refuse to fade away As you try to forget me Take my heart and walk away Like you wish you never met me

Like you wish you never met me Like you wish you never met me Like you wish you never met me Do you wish you never met me

Why can't we start this over What have we done to us You say that you need closure Are you just giving up

Why can't we start this over What have we done to us You say that you need closure Are you just giving up us

I refuse to fade away As you try to forget me Take my heart and walk away Like you wish you never met me

I refuse to fade away As you try to forget me Take my heart and walk away Like you wish you never met me

Like you wish you never met me Like you wish you never met me Like you wish you never met me Do you wish you never met me
