

The Breeze

Passafire

Oh baby, I'm feeling so lonely without you
Got these feelings on my mind, and I've got to let it out
Just want to let you know, that I'm feeling kinda low
And you lift me up so high, feel like I'm going through withdrawal
Pictures of your face keeping me sane through it all
I try to get it off my mind, and I play some basketball
Or take a ride upon the Sector Nine, still waiting for your call
Even after all this pain, I love you more and more

I've been hanging out with all your pretty friends
But it's only you I'm thinking of at the end of the night
And I wonder if you feel the same
Oh, I pray that you feel the same way

I feel your breeze blowing through them trees
Telling me that it's okay to breathe
I feel your breeze blowing through them trees
Telling me that it's okay to breathe

I've not talked to you in seven days, I'm losing my mind
But it's okay, cause I stack up lyrics in these stressful times
I'm stock piling for the future
And I hope that's what you want to have with me
So worried but I really should not be
Because you promised to love me
Said there's no one above me
I believe you, but lately my vision's kinda fuzzy
And I only feel the pain separation tends to bring Playing this guitar waiting for the phone to ring

I've been hanging out with all your pretty friends
But it's only you I'm thinking of at the end of the night
And I wonder if you feel the same
Oh, I pray that you feel the same way

I feel your breeze blowing through them trees
Telling me that it's okay to breathe
I feel your breeze blowing through them trees
Telling me that it's okay to breathe

Oh babe, I'm feeling so lonely without your love
Oh babe, I'm feeling so lonely without your love
Oh babe, I'm feeling so lonely without your love

And I feel your breeze, It's coming through the trees now
And I feel that breeze, coming through, coming through
It's blowing all the leaves down
It's blowing all the trees down
It's coming out, coming out, woh-oh-oh
