

If and When

Patti Page

If and when I find that face of all the faces
If and when that face smiles, hello
If and when that smile becomes a sigh
And if each kiss is warmer than July

If and when he leads me to enchanted places
Then and only then will I know
Why a heart that beats can sound like thunder from above

And then and only then will I know love

If and when he leads me to enchanted places
Then and only then will I know
Why a heart that beats can sound like thunder from above
And then and only then will I know love
