

The Wall

Patti Page

There's a wall between us, and it's not made of stone.
Although we're together, I feel so a-lone.
Though you say you love me, there's no warmth in your kiss.
Speak your mind, my darling, we can't go on like this.

Is it something I said that changed you?
Has something I said hurt you so?
Is there somebody else that you care for?
Whatever it is, let me know.

There's a wall between us. Will it keep us apart?
Darlin' tear down that wall, and mend my broken heart.

And mend my broken heart.