

I Believe You

Paul Brandt

There's a dealer with a car
He can sell you for a song
There's a psychic on the air
Got a hot line to your palm

There's another politician
Who's makin' news
With a brand new twist
On his version of the truth

They got powders, they got pills
With an X factor in it
Supposed to make you look
Ten years younger in a minute

They try to sell you dreams
Well, I ain't buyin' what they sell
But baby, when you tell me
There could be nobody else

I believe you, I just look in your eyes
I believe you, a true heart never lies
It's more that just a feeling, it's a matter of faith
When you tell me our forever never fade away
I believe you, I believe you, yes I do

There are golden guarantees
Right above the dotted line
Promises to keep
All you gotta do is sign

Oh, that's just paper-thin trust
But I can tell you this
When you tell me that you love me
And then seal it with a kiss

I believe you, I just look in your eyes
I believe you, a true heart never lies
It's more that just a feeling, it's a matter of faith
When you tell me our forever never fade away
I believe you, I believe you, yes I do

I believe you, I just look in your eyes
I believe you, a true heart never lies
It's more that just a feeling, it's a matter of faith
When you tell me our forever never fade away
I believe you, I believe you

I believe you, I believe you, yes I do
I believe, I believe, I believe you
