Do you remember me long ago
Used to wear my heart on my sleeve
I guess it still shows

We watched the sun fall down and I hop on my bike; still that night

You're my first glimmer of light You were my. you was my first Glimmer of light

And the leaves were burning up in the street I guess they tore that bridge out Where we used to meet And no one can see there

You're my first glimmer of light You were my. you was my first Glimmer of light

Wore my jacket and I wore your sweater Underneath the bridge was an indian summer Purple mascara, safety pins kickin' the dirt Took off your jacket took off my sweater And we made a wish things would never be better Train whistle blew my wish won't come. oh no.

You were the first glimmer of light You was my first glimmer of light You're my first glimmer of light You was my first, You was my first

Wore my jacket and I wore your sweater Underneath the bridge was an indian summer Purple mascara, safety pins God did it hurt Took off my jacket took off your sweater And we made a wish things would never be better Train whistle blew my wish came true.

You was my first glimmer of light You was my first glimmer of light You was my first glimmer of light You was my first glimmer of light

Oh baby now Yes you were Oh baby now Yes you were
