Well, I see the sunshine in your hair But I'm tied up with inebriation Naughty girl, leave me alone

It's a moonshine love
I'm so jealous that I cut my hand off
Broken glass is in my veins

You're like an old time, old time problem And when I should have left you alone Well, now you got me on the floor

You're like an old time, old time problem And when I should have left you alone Well, now you got me on the floor

Now that I'm a tipping toes
I'm looking outside through the bullet holes
No one will ever know, how hard it is to answer the phone

All my words get twisted, all my faith gets lifted All my pain is drifting, and I don't know why

You're like an old time, old time problem And when I should have left you alone Well, now you got me on the floor

You're like an old time, old time problem And when I should have left you alone Well, now you got me on the floor

Well, I get so tired of trying When I know you'll never be pleased You're always giving me something But never anything I need

Or maybe this ain't working My back's against the wall Maybe it ain't working But that's the way it goes

You're like an old time, old time problem And when I should have left you alone Well, now you got me on the floor

You're like an old time, old time problem And when I should have left you alone Well, now you got me on the floor

You're like an old time, old time problem And when I should have left you alone Well, now you got me on the floor

You're like an old time, old time problem hey
And when I should have left you alone
Well, now you got me on the floor
