

Wishful

Persephone

If I could make a wish
What would it be
Love, faith, fidelity?
A wish so small and though severe
One wish and you were here

If I could make a wish
What would it be
Love, truth, eternity?
A wish so small and though divine
One wish will make you mine

If I could make a wish
I dreamed reality away
But I fear my thoughts
If I could make a wish
Dreams would never end
But I fear my feelings

I drown in fear
I shiver, although you're not near
And when I dare to think of you
The earth trembles
With the rhythm of my heart
I drown in your words
In your eyes
In you
