

Murder & Photography

Philmont

Choose your subject and fill the frame
Leave the crime scene just as quietly as you came
You've been providing evidence
And all the puzzle pieces fit
You are who they say you are
You've framed yourself in innocence
The jury's out and they're convinced
You are who they say you are

Just point and shoot
That's all you do
To help yourself feel free
Murder and photography
It's simply pathetic how photosynthetic
Your life has become
Staring at the mirror plotting your next move
Finding new ways to improve

A witness claims your case is a charade
Accusations made have turned this into a game you know
Now by your rules we play
The day turns, the room adjourns
And we're stuck in the same place
Your defense is under attack
And they're not cutting any slack
You are who you say you are
Snap snap another photograph
You've been exposed and can't turn back
You are who you say you are

It's simply pathetic how photosynthetic
Your life has become
Staring at the mirror plotting your next move
Finding new ways to improve
Just point and shoot
That's all you do
To help yourself feel free
