

Opener

Piebald

If you don't want to know, why'd you ask with phrases slow?
You hear too much still want it all.
Listen to the writing on the wall.
Greek alphabet can ruin days off a tongue that swills and sways into ears that must digest.
The mind is forced to clean up the mess.
If you're the one who feels it I'm the one who lets it go.
Lots of thoughts to think but nothing to really know.
When you were young you made no words sounds and noise that still unnerved and now you've grown and you can speak.
For some though, it's all tongue in cheek.
You paint yourself with clouds around you so just sit back relax and take the pill.
You think I know nothing about you, but I know something more than I should spill.