

Surf to me
Whatever you want
And whenever you're breezing through
Keep tearing my world apart
As we lost the light
Wet cash on the bar
She fell victim to a violent wave
And died on the jagged rocks

But don't believe it's a never-ending summer
Cause they don't exist
Tied around your tongue in all the rage and spit
So why am I the one falling apart?

Cause you don't even know you're an angel
Foolish am I for the times I come and go
These stars defy love, so I close my eyes
And sleep inside your worn-in bed outline

Splash over your body while you drown on me
You ain't seen nothin' yet
Enter the galaxy of our sober demise
To the young and without type
In the morning hear all the birds sing
It never stops
Then, with tears in your eyes
You smiled dressed in coppertone tan lines
Oh oh I hope you don't regret me

But don't believe it's a never-ending summer
Cause they don't exist
Tied around your tongue in all the rage and spit
So why am I the one falling apart?

Cause you don't even know you're an angel
Foolish am I for the times I come and go
These stars defy love, so I close my eyes
And sleep inside your worn-in bed
And it won't be long 'till we drop this match
When I burn to your fingertips, you can throw what's left

So long, let's go and play those games you like
Let's go and play those games you like

But don't believe
Cause yesterday I found her with her clothes still wet
Crying in the shower on her knees she screamed
"Why the fuck am I falling apart?"

Cause you don't even know you're an angel
Foolish am I for the times I come and go
These stars defy love, so I close my eyes
And sleep inside your worn-in bed
And it woke me up like a heart attack
When you talk in your sleep I'll be there to slow your breath