My sisters dangerous. She climbs the barbed wire fence. Changes clothes in the back seat. Medical gown to red jeans. I can tell shes off her meds, cause she's grinning like a death's head. Like a slit wrist angel. The asylum lights up, as we pull away. The doctors don't get it, my sister can't be kept in a cage.