

I Won't Blame You

Pilate

Your door wide open
These words you've spoken
Hang like rain clouds pending the storm
Cut me slowly
Like you owe me
I feel like being torn
Show me 'round the rooms in your house,
Down the hallway to your doubt
And I won't blame you
I won't blame you
I won't blame you
A season's ended
Our bloodlines blended
Lives change with the melting snow
There's no easier decisions
Just life we've been given
Resigned to failing control
Show me 'round the rooms in your house
Down the hallway to your doubt
And I won't blame you
I won't blame you
I won't blame you
Lay them at my table
Secrets meant for me
Life we know's not simple
This loving not for free
Show me 'round the rooms in your house
Down the hallway to your doubt
And I won't blame you
I won't blame you
I won't blame you...
