

Proceed to Memory

Pinback

And when the seasons get you down
I'll come running to tuck you in
Out the window looks like all of the colors
All of them melting down
Heat escaping barely keeps you awake
Shivering in your clothes
Frosted glass is cracking into the shapes
You try to forget you know

You always seem to call when nothing is on, proceed to memory
You always seem to track the thread before the information is in
You're awfully calm, is all
You're awfully calm, is all

And when the seasons get you down
I'll come running to tuck you in
And out the window looks like all of the colors
All of them melting down
The heat escaping barely keeps you awake
Shivering in your clothes
The frosted glass is cracking into the shapes
You try to forget you know

(Water! Fire! Rain! Inhale!)
And soon all you'll have if the memory
(Water! Fire! Rain! Inhale!)
And then you won't even have that memory

Come out of there
We have just one night
Crack this tomb while everybody's sleeping
Come out of there
We got just one chance
If we lose out, no one is the weakest