Late Great Planet Earth

Plumb

The world ends without a tragedy Time is melting into history

The sky is falling Voices crying out in desperation Here them calling Everybody, save yourself

The world plays its angered symphony Lost inside eternal mystery

Doesn't matter what you say

Doesn't matter what you do We all end up this way There's one thing left to save you

The sky is falling Voices crying out in desperation Hear them calling You can never save yourself

Save yourself...