Sayonara

The Pogues

Okay, it's time for Sayonara Go on, Yankee break my heart There's nothing left for us to say now Even the best friends, they must part

... the nearest bar
I sat and looked across the sea
There's nothing left till now as sorrow
The waves just ... misery

She had a red red scarf Around her neck Her eyes were green Her hair was black

She had a red red scarf Around her neck Her eyes were green Her hair was black

Ooh, she gave me Mekong whiskey Ooh, she gave me Hong Kong flu Ooh, she gave me Mekong whiskey Put me on a breeze to Kathmandu

I got new papers in a bordello With some luckies and my ID My heart was pounding like a hammer Thai Thai Thai Thai I am free

I kissed her softly on her lips She took me gently by the hand This was our happy 'ever after' So motherfucker kiss the ground

She had a red red scarf Around her neck Her eyes were green Her hair was black

She had a red red scarf Around her neck Her eyes were green Her hair was black

Ooh, she gave me Mekong whiskey Ooh, she gave me Hong Kong flu Ooh, she gave me Mekong whiskey Put me on a breeze to Kathmandu

Ooh, she gave me Mekong whiskey Ooh, she gave me Hong Kong flu Ooh, she gave me Mekong whiskey Put me on a breeze to Kathmandu

Put me on a breeze to Kathmandu Fut me on a breeze to Kathmandu