Hiding the shame - a distant memory I'm so wasted, so ugly Buried beneath all the compromise I'm so jaded, frustrated But I'm alive I'm alive It's not enough to be yourself to make amends It's so messed up to be yourself when you're never, never enoug h Stealing the blame of your reflection There's no failure, no envy I've become all that I despise I'm so faded, devastated But I'm still alive I'm alive It's not enough to be yourself to make amends It's so messed up to be yourself when you're not enough It's not enough to be yourself to make amends It's so messed up to be yourself when you're never, never enoug h You're never enough How can you save a distant memory? That's so faded, so wasted Bury the shame in your reflection That's so jaded, so wasted There's nothing to gain And there's no one to blame. Just you I'm so wasted, I'm so ugly I'm so jaded, I'm frustrated It's not enough to be yourself to make amends It's so messed up to be yourself when you're not enough It's not enough to be yourself to make amends It's so messed up to be yourself when you're never, never enoug

You're never enough
