

Work

Pop Evil

Am I ever gonna break free?
Will I ever see what it's worth?
'Cause you tell me to be happy
When all I do, all I do is work

I've been running 'round since the crack of dawn
I've been making rounds, I've been pounding
It's been 90 days since I've seen a friend
Since I've had some time to allow this
I remember the days with time on my own
But now there's barely meat on the bone
Nothing's left, but leave me alone
All the people I see are just on my phone

I can feel it coming, I've been feeling it for days
I'm out here in the sun, while you're hiding in the shade
You follow me around like a monster full of rage

Am I ever gonna break free?
Will I ever see what it's worth?
'Cause you tell me to be happy
When all I do, all I do is work

All I do is work

I've been trying to find some inner strength
Get back on my feet, keep me grounded
It's been 90 days since I've had some sleep
Now my dreams got me surrounded
In so many ways I've turned into stone
Numb to the grind, I'm stuck in a zone
Nothing left, but leave me alone
All the people I know are stuck on my phone

I can feel it coming, I've been feeling it for days
I'm out here in the sun, while you're hiding in the shade
You follow me around like a monster full of rage

Am I ever gonna break free?
Will I ever see what it's worth?
'Cause you tell me to be happy
When all I do, all I do is work

All I do is work
When all I do, all I do is work
All I do is work

One, two, three, we all fall down
We work ourselves into the ground
One by one, the clock strikes twelve
We punch back in inside our shells
Inside our shells

All I do, all I do, all I do is work
All I do is work
Work, work, work, work
