Performance

Priestess

Some say happiness is a burden As I lie here trying to attain Inside outside I'm nothing But the more I see through the more I have to gain

If at first you don't succeed its normal But the second time you're expected to perform We perform Stand up, listen, ill tell you where we went wrong

Give me a reason to stop asking I know that some things can't be mine Inside outside I'm nothing And the layers crumble one piece at a time

if you expect me to go out there and shine every night You know there's something about that that just isn't right

We perform Stand up, listen, ill tell you where we went wrong
