

A Stroke of Magic

Pyramaze

Someone decided
Once we collided
Our two worlds
Should merge and intertwine
Winter was breaking
Hunger creating
Reasons
To stop and draw the line

Above the treetops rising high
New hopes were silencing the cry

A stroke of magic
Changed the world around us
A world this tragic
Seemed so superfluous
But magic turned the tide enchanted
Every aspect of this dying breed

Deep in the shadows
We try to compose
Dissonant and troubled elegies
On how to exploit these
New found abilities
Mastering ancient recipes

Behind the hilltop rising high
A flawless army standing by

A stroke of magic
Changed the world around us
A world this tragic
Seemed so superfluous
But magic turned the tide corrupted
Every member of this dying breed

A stroke of magic
Changed the world around us
A world so tragic
Came to life again
Magic awakens
Possessive madness
It's driving humankind insane