

Soul to the Sea

Pythia

I give my soul to the sea tonight
So that my love can be saved from the dark
This is {...}
I will give all my life for that

Softly he sleeps beside me, lost in a world of dreams
Knowing soon comes a day when he will be forced to leave
Oh the sea is searching for something, a light in unending dark
To protect him on the way- a prayer is not enough

So I'll make my final journey in his name
Let him steel his heart with all that's left of me

{...} will see me walking silently to the shore
Through the trees, branches entwining, witness my faithful {...
}
{...} will be the altar where I lay down my life
So in the name of love, I make this sacrifice

I will cull the waves and make his passage safe
He will feel my life-force in the {...}
