The Star You Left Behind

Now you are more free Than you really want to be. No one holds you in place, & you're drifting off in space. & the stars are all you see-Far away as they can be. & the star you left behind Gets dimmer all the time. & the problems that you made Eventually will fade. & the work that you have done Seems better when you're gone. Far away from everything, Far away from everywhere; No one hears you sing, No one knows you care.
