

Wait for the Rain

Rae Morris

It was 4 in the morning, tears down my face
I chose to call it time
I tried hard for you baby, no one else mattered
I hope that we be fine
As I walk down the hallway, debris is falling, feels like the end of time

I need to wash away the hours I cried last night

I cannot wait for the rain to remove this lovers pain
I cannot wait for the rain to come and fill me up again

Were you scared when it went our way?
Did it cross your mind I was just as broken
You remain underneath the dust
Now the fairy words hasn't gone unspoken
I just cry, I only loved once, you were my whole life
Now you're confined to my darkest memory

I need to wash away the hours I cried last night

I cannot wait for the rain to remove this lovers pain
I cannot wait for the rain to come and fill me up again
I cannot wait for the rain to dissolve a lovers flame
I cannot wait for the rain to make a woman of me again

Pour me a drink and bring it over here
I don't want no ice, I'm already cold enough now
In our last days I would lie with you
And you would never even sensed the end was coming
I'm trying but it hurts like mad
Baby what you doing now?
Acting like you don't even care that the world outside is broken down
And my lungs have no air

I cannot wait for the rain
I cannot wait for the rain to make a woman of me again
