

All at Once

Bonnie Raitt

Had a fight with my daughter
She flew off in a rage
Third time this week
Don't tell me it's the age

Don't know how I lost her
I only know that it's a shame
Ever since her daddy left her
The girl ain't been the same

All at once I hear your voice
And time just slips away
Nothing they could say can hold me here

Take me where I only feel
The wind across my face
Let me know there's someplace left for me
Waiting there for me

Ah, who am I kiddin'
I should have known he'd never leave
The time we spent together
Is harder than the time between

You wouldn't think it could hurt so
To see 'em out the other day
If that's what he calls leavin'
I guess I threw it all away

All at once I hear your voice
And time just slips away
Nothing they could say can hold me here

Take me where I only feel
The wind across my face
Let me know there's someplace left for me
Waiting there for me

They say women, we're the stronger
Somehow we make it through
Hell, that ain't what I feel right now
I don't even think it's true

To me there's lots more broken
Than anyone can really see
Why the angels turn their backs on some
It's a mystery to me

All at once I hear your voice
And time just slips away
Nothing they could say can hold me here

Take me where I only feel
The wind across my face
Let me know there's someplace left for me
