

The Road of No Return

Ray Price

There were tears in her eyes as she told me goodbye
Then she walked down that road of no return
If it hurts to see her go a broken heart must never show
For she's walked down that road of no return

She was mine through the years now I can't claim her
Though my heart's filled with tears I'll never blame her
Now another has her heart but from mine she'll never part
Though she's walked down that road of no return

In my heart I believe that someday she will dream
But she walked down that road of no return
If someday a memory burns and in her heart for me she yearns
She'll regret that road of no return

She was mine through the years now I can't claim her
Though my heart's filled with tears I'll never blame her
Now another has her heart but from mine she'll never part
Though she's walked down that road of no return
