

You Cared Enough to Lie

Reckless Kelly

If I never lay eyes on you again
I think about you now and then
You made me feel so special right until you said goodbye
If you never really loved me, you cared enough to lie

You must have a happy home cuz you ain't hanging out
Least nobody tells me if you do
And I'm still out here tempting fate running from my past
And I'll give you my bent tree saddle for one more night with you

If I never lay eyes on you again
I think about you now and then
The time I spent with you I swear I never felt so high
If you never really loved me, you cared enough to lie

If I never lay eyes on you again
I think about you now and then
You made me feel so special right until you said goodbye
If you never really loved me, you cared enough to lie

If you never really loved me, you cared enough to lie
