

Are You Alright

Red Wanting Blue

Are you alright?
Well, are you alright?
Well, are you alright?
Yeah...

"Are you alright with change?"
She said, standing in the door
This state of affairs has granted us much more
In terms of luxuries we can't afford
But these are the things that will make our ends meet again
When love means everything
'Cause we did it ourselves, ourselves
Don't you want everything?
For yourself
So are you alright now?
Love can be so unrewarding sometimes
So are you alright?
Pain can be so fun sometimes

Are you alright with pain?
Heaven sent and dancing in the form
Of sex that's best undressed and on the floor
Without this rush this love is just a bore
But these are the things that will make our ends meet again
When love means everything
'Cause we did it ourselves, ourselves
I know you want everything
For yourself
So are you alright?
Love can be so unrewarding sometimes
And are you alright?
Pain can be so fun sometimes

Are you alright with change?
Are you alright with pain?
Are you alright with loving under cover lover?
To numb the times that we weren't loving
Or living off eachother's breath
We bring the pain to realize
It feels good to hurt for someone else

So are you alright?
So are you alright now?
Love can be so unrewarding sometimes
And are you alright?
Pain can be so fun sometimes
Are you alright?
Are you alright?
Are you alright with loving under cover lover?
Alright, yeah