To sing you must first open your mouth, you must have a pair of lungs, and a little knowledge of music It's not necessary to have an accordion, or a guitar The essential thing is that I want to sing then this is a song, I'm singing

I breathe in and I create - rewoke the spirit '68

Fresh meaning to torn ideas let's bring life to old clichés

Punch a hole in tradition yeah, let's listen to the songs of discontent to the chords and the movement, to the chords and the movement

It could all be so simple, we would all stand baffled by the precision and accuracy Our jaws would hurt from dropping so hard, fast and unexpected It would be the perfect metaphor
It would be the perfect song we'd be singing

I breathe out and I scream - rewoke the Malatestas dream

Inspiration from the past focus to the future at last

Fixed dogmas can't substitute creative thought and action

We could be dangerous art as a real threat

And all it is is words, words said a million times before

And all it is is a song, a song sung a million times before

I breathe in and I create - rewoke the spirit '68
I breathe out and I scream - rewoke the Malatestas dream
