

What You Are To Me

Regine Velasquez

The scent of flowers
That fills the tranquil air
The sound of lovebirds
That seems to be everywhere

These are what you are to me
Each moment that you're there

A ray of sunshine
That finds its way in
The smooth and gentle breeze
That softly kisses my skin

These are what you are to me
As my day would begin

Each morning when I open my eyes
I find myself more in love with you
Each second makes up a minute
That leads to an hour of thinking of us two

Each wish that I make before I sleep
Is for us to be together I pray
Each year I have 365 dreams
About you and me
That our love will always stay

You're a friend to me
You're my family
You're my pillar of strength
Someone I aspire to be
These are what you are to me
You fill my soul with glee

When the sun appears
When the stars begin to hide
You are my shining light
You are my source of pride
These are what you are to me
You're always by my side

My world revolves around you
That's how it would turn out
But I believe this says
What love is all about
