

You

Ricki-Lee

You and I, night and day
In your eyes, I was swept away
A photograph, a thousand words
Hypnotized, you brought me down to earth

Take me back to yesterday
When the moment slipped away
It's holding me it's haunting me
I only had a taste
I wish that I could find the words to say
But I let you go, now I'll never know
And forever I'll be holding onto
You, you

Changing tides, rising moons
The years go by, I still remember you
I see your face traced in the stars
Lost in space, but you're always in my heart

So take me back to yesterday
When the moment slipped away
It's holding me it's haunting me
I only had a taste
I wish that I could find the words to say
But I let you go, now I'll never know
And forever I'll be holding onto
You, you

You're living in my memory
Oh I keep holding on
To the impossible, it's unbelievable
How I can't let go of you, you

So take me back to yesterday
When the moment slipped away
It's holding me it's haunting me
I only had a taste
I wish that I could find the words to say
But I let you go, now I'll never know
And forever I'll be holding onto
You, you