

Trippin' on My Own Tears

Ringo Starr

If you can't laugh you know what's the problem ?

We were once upon a time then your love disappeared
You can't help crying when you love something so dear
There's a mile of heartache that I had to cross
Face down, longing for the love I lost
I can't help wonderin' how I ended up here
So I cried so hard I was trippin' on my own tears

What was so confusing now is becoming so clear
She tried to tell me what I never wanted to hear
It don't matter if the sun does shine
It's always cloudy know that you're not mine
For one foolish moment won't you forgive me dear
So I cried so hard I was trippin' on my own tears

Why you can't you see that I'm dying?
I'm not a saint, but God I'm trying, trying

It don't matter if you're wrong or right
When you're walking the floors and you're up all the night
I'll wait for you if it takes a millions years
Well I cried so hard I was trippin' on my own tears
Yes I cried so hard I was trippin' on my own tears

On my own tears, on my own tears
On my own tears, on my own tears
Everybody check me out
On my own tears

Right time to real
I was trippin', trip, trip, trippin'
Trippin' on my own tears
Trippin' on trippin' up trippin' like
