

In the Wrong Hands

Rise to Fall

Sibylline figures gather in the dark, have you ever heard of a meeting of monsters?

Their main objective is to control it all, an absolute domination over the world

They go unnoticed, unknown to most. Without limits, their power grows

Under its mandate it is decided who stands and who falls down forever

Without your consent your destiny's in their hands, in the wrong hands

Inside the hermetic circle the board is being prepared, the game of power is about to begin

They maintain secret partnerships that benefit each other

Under its mandate it is decided who stands and who falls down forever

Without your consent your destiny's in their hands, in the wrong hands

Simple mortals playing to be gods on earth

Covetous monsters seeking for the biggest slice of the cake

Under its mandate it is decided who stands and who falls down forever

Without your consent your destiny's in their hands, in the wrong hands
