

David's Song

Robbie Williams

Hold me now, I think I might be dying
I'm not ashamed to say that I am frightened
Hold me now, I used to heal like lightning
Are yours the last eyes that I'll ever see, staring into me?

Was I just because, a mistake in love
Two people who stopped trying, enough
Don't want a brand new life, this one's just right
Why would I throw it all away?

Won't you hold me now, just before I stop breathing
I know I promised I wouldn't leave here without you

Please don't let me go while they play the last song ever
The last chance to hold each other, forever

Hold me now, I've still got words worth hearing
I just wanna be a human being
Hold me now, we all know what I'm fearing
I think I see the light, am I disappearing?

Was I just because, a mistake in love
Two people who stopped trying, enough
Don't want a brand new life, this one's just right
Why would I throw it all away?

Won't you hold me now, just before I stop breathing
I know I promised I wouldn't leave here without you

Please don't let me go while they play the last song ever
The last chance to hold each other, forever

Won't you hold me now, just before I stop breathing
I know I promised I wouldn't leave here without you

Please don't let me go while they play the last song ever
The last chance to hold each other, forever

Hold me now, remember how we were at the beginning
