

Lucky Clover Coin

Rocky Votolato

You found a Three Leaf Clover Coin
You said it was good luck and I think it will be
Your eyes are broken glass the shattered light
Shines on everything you see

There's a world I want to leave behind
Where a sunset in a constant bloody winter
Gives the only light, and with it I hoped I would disappear
You're keeping me alive
'Till the sunlight shows spring roses in water
And for the rest of my life
I'll put your broken pieces back together

I want to spend more time with you
Because you make me happy
It's something I'd been so little of
But you showed me that I can be

There's a world I want to leave behind
Where a sunset in a constant bloody winter
Gives the only light, and with it I hoped I would disappear
You're keeping me alive
'Till the sunlight shows spring roses in water
And for the rest of my life
I'll put your broken pieces together
And for the rest of my life
I'll put your broken pieces together
For the rest of my life
I only want to walk the way you showed me