

Guess I'll Always Love You

Rod Stewart

I used to think I was something real special
Brag about the hearts that I broke
But you came along like a hurricane, honey
And snapped me like a piece of rope

Oh, and even after all this time
When I've acted so stupid and blind
You took me in when I was out
You gave me hope when there was doubt

I guess I'll always love you
I guess I'll always care
I guess I'll always love you
All of my life

I used to worry about time and money
But I don't bother no more
I used to believe I was an no time lover
But now I'm no longer sure

Oh, 'cause you've come into my life
As tough as nails, been as sharp as a knife
And if I ever get loose again
You'll wrap me up and tuck me in

You know what
I guess I'll always love you
I guess I'll always care
I guess I'll always love you
All of my life

I feel I've waited a million years
For this little girl of mine
And this time I won't mess it up
Stand by her for the rest of my life

All of my life, all of my life
All of my life, all of my life

Ooh
Just a minute
Wooh

If I never get drunk again
You're the one that takes the blame
You know why, baby?

I guess I'll always love you
I guess I'll always care
I guess I'll always love you
All of my life

One more

All the times I've been too, too smart
You reminded me of my name
And all the days that I went missing

And time left sharing the blame

Oh, but you've never seen her hold
You'd even madness of laugh at it all
And I know you knew all along
I guess the pleasure of

Wooh

I guess I'll always love you
I guess I'll always care
I guess I'll always love you
All of my life

Yeah

I guess I'll always love you
I guess I'll always care
I guess I'll always love you
All of my life

All of my life, all of my life
All all of my life
I been waiting for someone
Someone like you