You Put Something Better Inside Me

Rod Stewart

I could look out my window
Or stare at the wall
It really it didn't matter
No, I just didn't care at all

Could be sitting by the water
Counting every stone
But nothing means nothing
When you're empty and on your own

'Cause you put something better inside of me
You put something better inside of me
Makes me so much stronger
I'm amazed at the change in me

Well, I knew what I was doing
I was running away
Busy going nowhere
Just wasting the time of day

I was walking down the road
Kicking up the stones
Nothing means nothing
When you're empty and on your own

'Cause you put something better inside of me
Makes me so much stronger
I'm amazed at the change in me

You put something better inside of me
Makes me so much stronger
I'm amazed at the change in me

You made me so much stronger
I'm amazed at the change in me
