

Near To Surrender

Roger Daltrey

So near to surrender
So near to an end
So near to surrender
The smile is to pretend.

Oh you might think your small
With your back to a wall
Oh you might think your sad
When you've been hurt so bad.

But when somebody cares for you
Someone who shares
Your not near to surrender anymore.

So near, So near to surrender
Your futures, your futures unknown
But don't you surrender.

You fought, you fought for long
Theirs always a face
Waiting to take your place.

Theirs always a clown
Working on your lonely frown
But when losing is not on your mind
Maybe you'll find your not near to surrender

Somebody cares for you
Someone who shares
Your not near to surrender anymore
Don't surrender anymore.