Your Number Is One

Rollins Band

the chaos that surrounds you the facts that astound you at last your number has found you your number is one I'm looking high I'm looking low I want to know therefore I go your number is one see them pull into the slow lane the no go lane watch them take the poison that drives them all insane your number is one your number is one your mind decided your number is one you are undivided for you there is but one direction your number is one I am looking high I'm looking low I want to know therefore I go your number is one I am looking high I'm looking low I want to know therefore I go your number is one that number is one one one the only one that number is one one one the only one keep the ? intact keep the ? at the top of the stack when you get to all the other stacks take the stack down off the rack your number is one your mind has decided your number is one you are undivided for you there is but one direction your number is one I'm looking high I'm looking low I want to know therefore I go your number is one I'm looking high I'm looking low I want to know therefore I go your number is one that number is one one one the only one that number is one one one the only one yeah one one one the only one one one one the only one your number is one one one the only one that number is one one one the only one
