

Do You See Me

Ron Pope

I recall the weather changin', I could see the summer fadin'
I could feel it turnin' into fall, as I watched the sky believi n',
Maybe I could find a reason for all the things that tore us bot h apart

and do you see me?
I'm standin' here along, I'm standin' here alone
Do you see me?
Where else would I go? Where else would I go?
cause I want to come home
cause I want to come home

After all the time we wasted, autumn reds all washed away
And we are left with nothing much at all
And as the sun cuts through the cold and tries its best to keep me warm
I loose myself in thoughts of I don't know

Do you see me?
I'm standin' here along, I'm standin' here alone
Do you see me?
Where else would I go? Where else would I go?
Cause I want to come home
Cause I want to come home
Cause I want to come home

Do you see me?
I'm standin' here alone, I'm standing here alone
Do you see me?
Where else would I go? Where else would I go?
Cause I want to come home
Cause I want to come home
Cause I want to come home
