

Home From Home

Roo Panes

Bright young sun, looks like the morning's come
And its all come so easy like the heavens are wishing me well
And those dawning eyes brought forth my own sunrise
Well its been a long time since the beat of my heart was a friend
It's been a long time since i felt I was breathing again

In you I found my home from home
Left all that i knew for a love that I know

So fresh air open ways, mild nights wild days
Wandering in wonder, pondering what wandering we'll do
See I don't care about what, when or where Cos I'm starting to realize the question worth asking is who?
I'm starting to realize the question worth answering is you

In you i found my home from home,
I left all that i knew for a love that i know,
And that grip you prized me from I was already trying to lose
It was holding me to hold me back from you.

I guess it's funny, this two-fold irony
I guess it's funny, this two-fold irony

Greatest victory through my own defeat
Greatest victory through my own defeat
