

Shyness

Room Eleven

Shyness is when you turn your head away
From something you want
I wanted you, you, you

I bought a cocktail dress
But there was no occasion to wear it so
I threw a party myself

I invited all these people
And you never grow to old to dream
So I invited you too
I invited you too

You where talking to girls I wish I hadn't invited
You where cool and funny I could tell
Your laughter was the only thing I could hear
But I just couldn't come near

Shyness is when you turn your head away
From something you want
I wanted you, you, you

Shyness is when you turn your head away
From something you want
I wanted you, you, you

Oh what a disaster where did the purple drinks come from
I was making confessions about things no-one needs to know
Besides I ate all the candy, and burned a hole in my dress
To heaven excuse I started cleaning the kitchen
I felt like crying but I was my party so I had to keep smiling

Shyness is when you turn your head away
From something you want
I wanted you, you, you

Shyness is when you turn your head away
From something you want
I wanted you, you, you

Oh you came my way
I couldn't believe it, you came my way
You said 'do you need someone to help you drying'

Shyness is when you turn your head away
From something you want
And I wanted you, you, you
I wanted you