The Way We Make A Broken Heart

Rosanne Cash

Just one more kiss, she'll have to miss this night with you Now you're guilty of this secret love, as I am too You'll get used to telling lies, feeling sorry when she cries Now that the strings aren't attached, you'll catch on, we've do ne our part Oh, and this is the way we make a broken heart

Lesson number one, we've just begun to hurt her so And with lesson two she'll long for you when lights are low And we get to lesson three when she gets down on her knees And begs you to stop at the door just before she comes apart Oh, this is the way we make a broken heart

Now we've made a trail of tears for her to follow And we've thought of every line that she might swallow

And with lesson four, there'll be no more for her to bear And on some dark night we'll dim the lights on this affair Then she'll find somebody new and he'll likely hurt her too 'Cause there must be millions just like you and me, practiced i n the art Oh, and this is the way we make a broken heart Oh, and this is the way we make a broken heart

Ay yi, yi, yi, yi, yi, yi, yi This is the way we make a broken heart Ay yi, yi, yi, yi, yi, yi, yi, yi This is the way, this is the way, this is the way, this is the way Oh, this is the way we make a broken heart
