Roses Are Red

i've got another question that you have known for years what was it that i said and why did it make you so mad i walked in the wong direction to study all you lies what did your boyfriend tell you that made you start to cry he said "let's try to make this last" she said "let's not forget the past" everything is happening so fast we're losing time round and round we go you were alklways there to understand i guess you'll never know you were always there to understand we tried so hard and now what are these thoughts spinning round my head it's all cover up everything falls apart and though i know you're on my side i still ask myself why because everything falls apart it's not hard for me to try with a heart this big i'll never die you run your fingers through your hair don't even notice that i'm there with a heart this big i'll never die.
