

Hello, Cruel World

Roses Are Red

i am lost without you- i am feeling so scared. i don't know what to say anymore- when this life's a gamble- all these things won't matter-i'd bet it all on everything for you- there must be something in the air tonight- i can't forget the way your face shone in the light- it's just the way it has to be- you're spinning slowly in your orbit- anything to keep from crashing into me
