Finish Line

Rosie Thomas

Go now go while you can From the love that's brought you down Things will soon come around I swear And they'll be sorry they let you down Go now go while you can From the life that's brought you down Things will soon come around I swear And you'll have it all figured out Never really worry for a bit Sometimes it feels worse then it really is You may always be changing your mind Just push hard for the finish line
