

Restless Heart

Rough Silk

As you switched off the shining light of freedom
I was stumbling through the darkness of the night.
I fought the tears - I forced the fight.
I broke the walls to catch the might.
Sometimes right - sometimes wrong
- do I have to sing the same old song ?

Restless heart - sleepless mind
- restrictions were a standstill of the killing kind.
Restless heart - get a brandnew card when the world falls apart
- I was born with a restless heart.

Rainy weather - I kept both hands on the wheel.
When dreams are fading I'm holdin' on to what is real.
Who do you think you are to tell me what to do ?
Whatever you leave behind will be coming back to you.
Sometimes right

Restless heart.....

You made it silently clear that you want it your way
and in the end there was nothing left to say...

Restless heart...