

We Must Look In The Mirror

Roy Drusky

It's like heaven for me to be near you
(And I try hard to put thoughts of home behind)
While holding you, I feel no shame in the things we do
But tomorrow's dawn will bring our hearts a change of mind
For we must look in the mirror tomorrow, at our sorrow and at ourselves

It's so wrong but my love was never stronger
(But in your arms, this wrong always seems so right)
I don't see how this can go on any longer
So let's say goodbye and let it in tonight
For we must look in the mirror tomorrow, at our sorrow and at ourselves