

Don't Fall Apart

Royal Wood

It's with a veil she gives her heart
Is she afraid that they'll fall apart?

It's with a word whispered alive
The depths of his heart
There it confides
Swallowed in fear and handled in doubt
Afraid that he can't go on without

Will they miss the rose if blind to the bloom?
Darkness for light and shadows to lose
The beacons for them
The calling of stars
A pleading for two
Don't fall apart

They met at the gate late afternoon
The mouths of the trees whispered the news
Shoes underfoot and souls lit alive
Unsure of themselves but feeling the tide

Will they miss the rose if blind to the bloom?
Darkness for light and shadows to lose
The beacons for them
The calling of stars
A pleading for two
Don't fall apart

Do...

It's with a lock they offer their souls
Guarding the ghosts from so long ago

Will they miss the rose if blind to the bloom?
Darkness for light and shadows to lose
Yes will they miss the rose if blind to the bloom?
Darkness for light and shadows to lose
The beacons for them
The calling of stars
A pleading for two
Don't fall apart
