Running circles in the dark Sharing one world is not enough Now is, now is, now is, now Now is, now is, now is, now If I should fall to rise again in a place I've never seen I'd do it all over again will you remember me? Marching aimless out of time Words unspoken open wide Now is, now is, now is, now Now is, now is, now is, now If I should fall to rise again in a place I've never seen I'd do it all over again will you remember me? If I should fall to rise again in a place I've never seen I'd do it all over again will you remember me?