

Human Heat

Sam Roberts

Why don't we go to the city now
We could see all the nitty gritty now
Catch a fly ball at the stadium
Maybe free fall into oblivion

These days, these days every time that I go downtown
I can't believe there's so much, there's so much of everything, every thing
There's so much of everything everything

Move with the times or they'll leave you behind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
Move with the times or go out of your mind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy

If you can hear this, then it means that there's no apocalypse
Still, I don't know why I even go downtown anymore
There's too much of everything, everything

Out on the street, shoulder to shoulder
The human heat is boiling over

Move with the times or they'll leave you behind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
Move with the times or go out of your mind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
Move with the times or they'll leave you behind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
Move with the times or go out of your mind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy

I've been drinking from the dregs
Can't feel my fingers, can't feel my legs
Sometimes it rolls straight to the heart
It makes you whole or it tears you apart, woah

It's taking over everyone you meet
Shoulder to shoulder, feel the human heat, the human heat
It's taking over everyone you meet
Shoulder to shoulder, feel the human heat, the human heat

Move with the times or they'll leave you behind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
Move with the times or go out of your mind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
Move with the times or they'll leave you behind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
Move with the times or go out of your mind
You are your own worst enemy, your own worst enemy
